Spring Bowers, against a background of palms, ferns and Southern smilax, decorated the ballroom of the Jefferson Hotel last evening for the last dance of the winter season given by the Richmond German Club. The germen was led by Major Jo Lane Stern, dancing with Miss Maudie Alvey Shuler, of Redlands, Cal., the debutante niece of Mr. and Mrs. George Bishop. Miss Shuler wore a lovely gown of turquoise blue chameuse and tulle finished with silver lace.

Prominent guests for the club last evening included Mrs. Robert Coulter Bryan, Mrs. E. Randolph Williams, Mrs. Levin Jones, Mrs. E. Addison Reynolds, Mrs. Eugene Gough, Mrs. William H. Palmer Jr., Mrs. Everett Baumer, Miss Charles C. Backus, Mrs. Charles V. Harrington and Mrs. W. Ormond Young.

A seated supper was served at 10:30 o'clock in the dining room which was also decorated in palms and spring flowers. The ladies were prettily arranged in long-cloaked bouquets of red and gold, often with pink and yellow tulips, daffodils and carnations, wearing out the Valentine idea. Some of the guests from a distance attending the dance last evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peters of Greenwich, N. Y., and Miss Florence Burroughs of New York City.

Brighton Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Edna Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thompson, of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, was celebrated last evening in the church on the Fourth Street corner of Main and 14th Streets, Fredericksburg. The church was thronged with spectators to witness the ceremony, and the altar was lined with palms and tall eucalyptus drapery. Mrs. Allen Seville rendered the wedding music.

Edna was the maid of honor and the bride's sister, Mrs. William James Thompson, was done of honor. The groom's mother, the greenest maid, Mrs. Thompson, made her own wedding gown of white satin, finished with white lace, and she carried an armful of pink flowers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Emily Waddell, Mrs. Jessie Henley, of Wingfield, Mrs. William Frost Moore, of Baltimore, and Misses Henley of Atlanta. They wore pink silk dresses over pale pink silk trimmings in lavender, and they carried short bouquets of Killarney roses and pink sweet peas. The little flower girl, Virginia Henley Walker, wore a white chiffon frock with pink ruffe bows, and carried a French basket of pink roses which she scattered before the bride. The ushers were Edmund Waddell, Christian Kenneth L. Black, William L. Bagland and Luther W. Brookhart.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the ceremony at the church about 125 guests being present. The drawing rooms were decorated in palms and peacock feathers. Mrs. Samuel P. Waddell and Miss Betty P. Henley presided.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left later in the evening for the home of the Mardi Gras in New Orleans, and on their return spent several days in Atlantic City. Among the guests from a distance attending the wedding were Mrs. W. Frost Moore, of Baltimore; Miss Margarette Henley, of Atlanta; Miss Laura Higgins, of Rockville, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lipscomb, of Waynesboro, Va.; Mrs. W. C. Thurston, of Burlington, N. J., and Miss Bessie Henley, of Winston-Salem.
